

Extremism and the Sacredness of Human Life

Our world appears more polarized, divided and divisive than ever and we are confronted with extremism and violence in new and terrifying ways. In the face of this extremism and violence, we believe there is a heightened urgency to proclaim Jesus Christ, the Prince of Peace, and we urge Christians of all traditions to commit themselves to grace filled action in relation to our sisters and brothers in other faith traditions. Further, we reject all forms of violent extremism, recognizing that human life is sacred, and no one should be victimized nor lives taken, by anyone in the name of religion.

Created and approved by the Regional Secretaries of World Methodist Evangelism
Houston, Texas USA August 29, 2016

Approved by the World Methodist Council
Houston, Texas USA August 30, 2016